guide Education 50 is chock full of information to guide you and will be an upto-date analysis of all major state races for November's final contests.

MORE UNION DISSENT. This time in South Carolina. Dubbed a "mobilization", the rally at least took place on a Saturday when the livelihood of the children was not at stake. Want more money and benefits? Teachers should get up to speed on what's really preventing that from happening. (Hint: It's not education reform).

BAIT & SWITCH. The media have been hoodwinked clearly by catchy surveys conducted by the Louisiana Federation of Teachers claiming a majority of teachers support their strikes and demonstrations. Take a look at this loaded question they used to stir the pot. Again, teachers should ask themselves, what has the union done lately to ensure that school spending reaches the classroom, to reduce their dues, to reduce pension costs, ensure that salaries not be topped off at the end of a teacher's career, and that greatness is rewarded, while mediocrity is not? The reality is that most teachers don't know how they are paid, or why.

New survey shows nearly 4,000 Louisiana teachers would strike, quit for higher pay when they can't win they sue. Repeated lawsuits initiated by the unions against the tiny Washington State charter school law are going to prevent more students like Jalen Johnson, an 11th-grader at Summit Sierra charter school in Seattle, from succeeding. Johnson told the crowd at a pro-charter rally that the commitment of his teachers helped turn him from an average middle-school student who had little thought of attending college to a thriving high-school junior who hopes to study urban planning at the University of California at Berkeley. "This is how every school should be." That's the same theme in Georgia in a news report about charter school graduates. "Public school choice, in the form of successful, innovative public charter schools, helps struggling children thrive and graduate."

SPEAKING OF GRADUATES, Michigan's charter schools are forcing some who have long used flawed data to condemn Detroit charters to eat their words. Turns out that with struggle comes progress (as one of our friends would say). A dollar spent by a Detroit charter yields 2.5x lifetime earnings, according new a new report by the Mackinac Center. Indeed 8 of the 10 top high schools in Detroit for college enrollment were charter schools. Despite the good news, the Gubernatorial Democratic frontrunner in Michigan announced earlier this month his "war on charter schools." Shri Thanedar is campaigning on a plan to ban most Michigan charter schools. His competitor Gretchen Whitmer is following his lead.

stiff teacher union pressure threaten the elimination of the successful Invest in Kids Act program, despite its popularity and necessity. Empower Illinois received 24,000 applications as soon as its scholarship program went live, causing its website to crash, and is up to 50,000. The state tax credit program is decried by the teachers' union because it's a policy that supports educational alternatives. So as the unions work to pull teachers out of school they are also trying to stop kids from going to schools that meet their needs. Go figure.

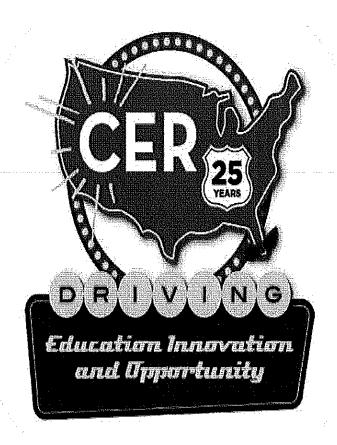

FLORIDA DISTRICTS FIGHT equality for kids while they deny charter public schools their equal right to property tax money.

DESPITE FAILURE & SAFTEY ISSUES, the head of the National Education Association (NEA) is galloping into Kentucky to the fight proposed state takeover of Jefferson County Public Schools.

LET US PRAY. THE MUCH-ANTICIPATED SCOTUS JANUS v. AFSCME RULING in late June could mean a seismic shift for teachers' unions. With the strong possibility of a ruling Mark Janus' favor, releasing non-union teachers from mandatory fees, the nation's largest teachers' union, the National Teachers Association (NEA) has announced a projected loss of 300,000 members over two years and accordingly, a proposed annual budget reduction of $50 million. For more details and analysis on the case and how its outcome will affect all educators and students, listen to this Monday's Reality Check with Jeanne Allen with guest Colin Sharkey, executive vice president of the Association of American Educators.

Check out this week's Reality Check w/Jeanne Allen for an interview with North Carolina charter school leaders about the strikes and their prescription for success.

Available At Jamboree

The upcoming World Scout Jamboree takes place next year, and will feature scouts from all around the world, including the Boy Scouts.

While the leaders are marketing the event as a "celebration of cultural exchange? D, they've taken it to a whole new level of "experience", by actually offering condoms at the event.

And the World Scout Jamboree planning crew has went even further to say these condoms must be "readily and easily accessible", and their reasoning is so alarming, it will shock you.

A weekly report on education news and commentary you won't find anywhere else — from the nation's leading voice on education innovation and opportunity.

GUBERNATORIAL RACES PUT ED FRONT-AND-CENTER. Who are the education innovation and opportunity candidates? With 36 gubernatorial races at stake, and CER's ED50 ramping up to serve you in the generals, your CER NEWSWIRE will highlight key races & what opportunity voters should know about each candidate from now until the final election day.

CALIFORNIA. In the Golden state, the front runner's gold is clearly the teachers unions, who endorsed Lt. Gov and former San Francisco Mayor Gavin Newsom because he says stuff like edreforms such as charters are an attack on public education. Antonio Villaraigosa believes in choice through charter schools, which earned him the endorsement of California charter advocates and some of their biggest financial backers.

But the State's two leading Republican candidates are polling ahead of Villaraigosa. Businessman John Cox is pretty silent on education opportunity, and Assemblyman Travis Allen is a fierce advocate of educational choice. They are polling at 18 and 16 percent respectively ahead of Villaraigosa's 9%.

GEORGIA. The winner of May 22nd= 2s Democratic primary, Stacey Abrams says educational choice is "diversion of funds to private schools" that "[undermine] our government's responsibility." (Hmmm, you mean the responsibility to educate kids which they can't do in most states and communities, Stacey?)

The Republicans will run off Lt. Governor Casey Cagle and Secretary of State Brian Kemp in July both of whom have supported education opportunity. Kemp also supports military vouchers.

deliver a decision in Janus v. AFSME sometime in June, and true to form, the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) is focused on how to mitigate membership losses that will be inevitable if the Court rules in favor of Janus. AFT says it will lose members (aww, darn) and is buying up advertising to scare people that this decision is terminal... for... exactly who? Imagine if those funds were given back to the teachers who can't make enough money in the prime of their lives thanks to A) the policies they lobby for and B) the dues they extract.

GET THE DETAILS with the latest Reality Check w/Jeanne
Allen with guest Colin Sharkey, EVP of the Association of American Teachers, the largest non-union professional association for teachers. Colin is uniquely qualified to comment on the case and its implications for the public sector and the teaching profession. Mark Mix, the head of the National Right to Work

Legal Defense Fund, also talks about the case he helped to take all the way to the Supreme Court.

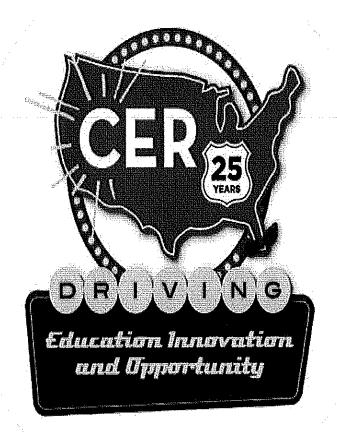

EXCEL IN ED PLAYBOOK. Shout out to the Foundation for Excellence in Education for producing the first-ever playbook for state policymakers defining the case for strengthening career and technical pathways through cross-sector partnerships. Let's strive to help learners at all levels, particularly those ill-served by traditional schooling all these years.

STUDENT-CENTERED FUNDING IN NORTH CAROLINA? Could a new funding model mean greater impact, and more money going to teachers students and classrooms in NC? The NC budget includes a 6-7% pay increase for teachers and principals, performance pay provisions for additional bonuses, increases for all education related growth and even includes a provision allowing property tax dollars to fund public schools or public charter schools directly outside district lines. Consider the impact of this on teachers, who recently took to the streets to protest what they get paid. If money flows to schools, the potential for more and better funding opportunities for teachers is enormous. Think about it!

JOIN US! Recognized for their accomplishments in ensuring the creation and advancement of opportunities and innovation across the education landscape, the 8 honorees for CER's 25th Anniversary are change agents, innovators, and leaders of breakthrough options for learners at all levels. They will receive their awards and recognition for their unique accomplishments at the Center's Silver Anniversary Summit & Celebration, October, 25 – 26, 2018 in Miami, Florida, "The Road to Innovation for ONE America." Subject: Morning Consult Washington: Giuliani Says Trump 'Probably Does' Have the Power to Pardon Himself

Top Stories

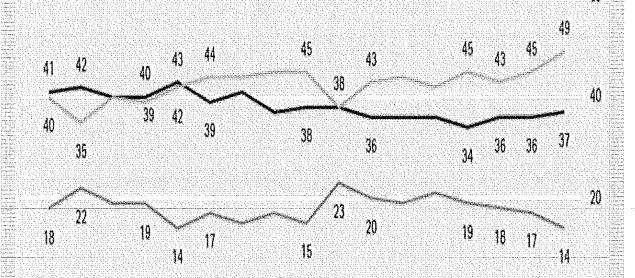

- Former New York City Mayor Rudy Giuliani, a lawyer for President Donald Trump, said the president "probably does" have the power to pardon himself. But, during an interview about special counsel Robert Mueller's investigation, Giuliani said Trump "has no intention" of pardoning himself, adding that the "political ramifications of that would be tough." (ABC News)
- Trump's lawyers said in a confidential letter delivered to Mueller's office in January that the president cannot be compelled to testify in the special counsel's investigation, and that Trump could not have committed obstructed justice because he has authority over all federal investigations. Trump's lawyers fear he risks subjecting himself to accusations of lying to investigators if he answers questions voluntarily or in front of a grand jury. (The New York Times)
- House Republican leaders are hoping to broker a deal this week that would allow floor votes on immigration measures controlled by the party's leadership, instead a series of contentious immigration votes that could be forced by moderate Republicans.
 Two more Republican signatures are needed to trigger the controversial votes via a discharge petition, assuming all House
 Democrats support the legislative maneuver. (The Hill)

General

Pentagon to take over security clearance checks Lolita C. Baldor, The Associated Press

The Defense Department is poised to take over background investigations for the federal government, using increased automation and high-tech analysis to tighten controls and tackle an enormous backlog of workers waiting for security clearances, according to U.S. officials. The change aims to fix a system whose weaknesses were exposed by the case of a Navy contractor who gunned down a dozen people at Washington's Navy Yard in 2013.

Iran calls on world to stand up to Trump, save nuclear deal Bozorgmehr Sharafedin, Reuters

The world should stand up to Washington's bullying behavior, Iran's foreign minister was quoted as saying on Sunday by state media in a letter to counterparts, as the top diplomat intensifies efforts to save a nuclear deal after a U.S. exit. U.S. President Donald Trump pulled out last month from the 2015 accord between Iran and world powers that lifted sanctions on Tehran in exchange for curbs to its nuclear program.

Joe Biden steams into midterm campaigns as 2020 question looms Mike Memoli, NBC News

There are two questions Joe Biden just can't avoid most days: When can you campaign for me? And what are you doing in 2020?

Business economists worry about possible recession in 2020 Martin Crutsinger, The Associated Press

A group of top business economists believes the major tax cuts President Donald Trump pushed through Congress will give a significant boost to economic growth this year and next year. But they worry that by 2020, the country could be entering a new recession.

Presidential

President Trump 'probably does' have the power to pardon himself: Giuliani Morgan Winsor, ABC News

President Donald Trump's personal attorney said the commander-in-chief "probably does" have the power to pardon himself. In an interview Sunday with ABC News Chief Anchor George Stephanopoulos on "This Week," Rudy Giuliani discussed special counsel Robert Mueller's investigation of whether the president may have tried to obstruct justice in the probe of Russian efforts to interfere in the 2016 U.S. presidential election.

Giuliani: Trump Could Have Shot Comey And Still Couldn't Be Indicted For It S.V. Date, Huffington Post

Candidate Donald Trump bragged that he could shoot someone on New York's Fifth Avenue and not lose any support, and now President Donald Trump's lawyer says Trump could shoot the FBI director in the Oval Office and still not be prosecuted for it. "In no case can he be subpoenaed or indicted," Rudy Giuliani told HuffPost Sunday, claiming a president's constitutional powers are that broad.

Trump's Lawyers, in Confidential Memo, Argue to Head Off a Historic Subpoena Michael S. Schmidt et al., The Washington Post

President Trump's lawyers have for months quietly waged a campaign to keep the special counsel from trying to force him to answer questions in the investigation into whether he obstructed justice, asserting that he cannot be compelled to testify and arguing in a confidential letter that he could not possibly have committed obstruction because he has unfettered authority over all federal investigations. In a brash assertion of presidential power, the 20-page letter - sent to the special counsel, Robert S. Mueller III, and obtained by The New York Times - contends that the president cannot illegally obstruct any aspect of the investigation into Russia's election meddling because the Constitution empowers him to, "if he wished, terminate the inquiry, or even exercise his power to pardon."

President Trump Orders Help For Coal And Nuclear Plants Jeff Brady, NPR News

President Trump has ordered Energy Secretary Rick Perry to take immediate steps to help financially troubled coal and nuclear power plants. A draft plan marked "confidential" is being circulated around Washington.

White House plans to nominate conservative documentarian, Bannon ally, to lead government media agency Hadas Gold, CNN

President Donald Trump will nominate a conservative documentarian and Stephen Bannon ally to lead a large government agency that creates and distributes news to more than one hundred countries. Late Friday, the White House announced its intent to nominate Michael Pack, a former president of the conservative Claremont Institute, to lead the Broadcasting Board of Governors.

Senate

Senate Republicans Are Newly Hopeful About the Midterms. For Good Reason.
Jonathan Martin, The New York Times

After a turbulent first year confronting friendly fire from President Trump, Senate Republicans are entering the summer before the midterm elections feeling more hopeful about retaining their narrow majority than at any time since the president's election. And for good reason.

GOP senators need an agenda - so they're doing a poll John Bresnahan and Burgess Everett, Politico Republican senators aren't sure what to do between now and the November election. So they're conducting a poll - of themselves.

Jon Tester, a Democrat in Deep-Red Montana, Isn't Sweating Trump's Threats Nicholas Fandos, The New York Times

Under a nearly cloudless sky on the sun-speckled northern prairie last Tuesday, Jon Tester, this state's senior senator, had his hands deep inside a 25-year-old grain auger. In Washington, the White House was letting it be known that President Trump was planning a summertime blitz against Democrats running for re-election in states that he had won, a tour that would surely bring him to Montana, where the president's margin was 20 percentage points.

State GOP facing test by backing Leah Vukmir in US Senate primary Mark Sommerhauser, Wisconsin State Journal

The Republican Party of Wisconsin is putting its organizational muscle behind its chosen candidate for U.S. Senate, Leah Vukmir, even as her well-funded GOP opponent, Kevin Nicholson, vows to prevail in the Aug. 14 primary. History suggests Nicholson, a Delafield management consultant and political newcomer, has a tough challenge to oust the party favorite in Vukmir.

House

This week: GOP faces make-or-break moment on immigration Jordain Carney and Melanie Zanona, The Hill

House Republicans are facing a make-or-break moment on immigration as they return to Washington this week. GOP members will huddle in the Capitol on Thursday for a two-hour conference meeting designed to reach a consensus on the hot-button issue.

Majority Leader McCarthy defends Trump tariffs Jacqueline Klimas, Politico

House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy on Sunday defended the administration for leveraging tariffs on close allies as "standing up" for free trade. "We are in the middle of a trade discussion. Nobody wants to be in a trade war. Nobody wins a trade war," the California Republican said on CNN's "State of the Union."

In Race to Succeed Paul Ryan, More Names Pop Up Kristina Peterson, The Wall Street Journal

House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy and Majority Whip Steve Scalise are the lawmakers to beat to replace the departing House Speaker Paul Ryan. But their status as the frontrunners to succeed Mr. Ryan, who plans to leave office in January, hasn't quelled chatter on Capitol Hill of who else might become a contender.

Distillery owner Denver Riggleman wins GOP nomination to replace Garrett on Virginia congressional ticket Graham Moomaw, Richmond Times-Dispatch

Virginia distillery owner Denver Riggleman on Saturday won the Republican nomination to replace retiring U.S. Rep. Tom Garrett, R-5th, on the ballot in November, capping a chaotic week after Garrett abruptly announced he'll step down and seek treatment for alcoholism. Riggleman, who ran a libertarian-flavored campaign for governor last year but dropped out before the GOP primary, may have saved the Republican establishment's hopes of holding the 5th District, which runs through the middle of the state from the Northern Virginia exurbs to the North Carolina border.

Lujan Grisham misstated her income in 2013 financial disclosures Rachana Pradhan, Politico

Rep. Michelle Lujan Grisham earned more from her role as co-owner of the company that runs New Mexico's high-risk insurance program than she stated on her congressional financial disclosure forms for 2013, according to a review of the report and newly released tax returns. In annual financial disclosures required for members of Congress, Lujan Grisham initially reported receiving between $50,001 and $100,000 in dividends in 2013 from the Delta Consulting Group, which she cofounded in 2008 with a political ally who went on to get elected to the New Mexico Legislature.

The Battle for the House Hits the Shores of Southern California Bridget Bowman, Roll Call

The battle for control of the House has landed in California, and it's partly because of voters like Deborah and Wyatt Carr. Deborah, 69, was not registered with a party, and Wyatt, 73, was a longtime Republican.

States

Rep. Sean Patrick Maloney poised to enter attorney general race

Rebecca C. Lewis, City & State New York

Rep. Sean Patrick Maloney is "getting ready" to enter the race for New York attorney general and plans to make an announcement about it early next week. In a Friday interview with City & State, referring to being openly gay, Maloney said he hopes to "make some history" and to "build a broader consensus about positive change."

California bans travel to another state based on its 'discriminatory' LGBT adoption law Ryan W. Miller, USA Today

Add Oklahoma to the list of states to which California is banning statefunded and state-sponsored travel. California Attorney General Xavier Becerra announced Friday that as a result of "discriminatory legislation" that became Oklahoma law last month, the western state will prohibit travel to its midwestern counterpart.

Outspoken legislator Erin Maye Quade endorsed as Erin Murphy's running mate in governor's race Jessie Van Berkel, Star Tribune

Minnesota DFLers wrapped up their hard-fought endorsing convention Sunday by unexpectedly backing lieutenant governor candidate Erin Maye Quade, a rookie legislator whose fight against sexual harassment and sit-in for gun control vaulted her into the spotlight. Minnesota DFLers backed Maye Quade a day after state Rep. Erin Murphy won the gubernatorial endorsement over U.S. Rep. Tim Walz in seven rounds of voting.

Advocacy

Lobbyist Whose Wife Rented a Condo to Scott Pruitt Failed to Disclose E.P.A. Lobbying Eric Lipton, The New York Times

The lobbyist whose wife rented a $50-a-night condo to Scott Pruitt, the head of the Environmental Protection Agency, has revised his disclosure reports after his firm concluded he had not properly disclosed additional efforts to influence Mr. Pruitt and the agency - including appeals when Mr. Pruitt was living in the condo. The lobbying firm, Williams & Jensen, has refiled lobbying disclosure reports from 2017 to acknowledge that Steve Hart, the firm's former chairman, lobbied the E.P.A. on behalf of Coca-Cola and a government board from Puerto Rico helping the island address its fiscal debts.

Embattled Chinese Telecom Giant ZTE Hired Trump Campaign Veteran Lachlan Markay, The Daily Beast

A day after President Donald Trump announced he would consider easing penalties against a controversial Chinese electronics company, that company enlisted a Trump campaign veteran to make its case in Washington. ZTE Corporation struck a contract with D.C. lobbying and public relations powerhouse Mercury Public Affairs on May 14, a day after Trump tweeted that he would consider lifting the penalties that had been imposed on the company as punishment for its violation of sanctions against Iran and North Korea.

Unions Brace for Pivotal Court Decision Amid Politicking Kate Ackley, Roll Call

In preparation for a Supreme Court decision that may deal a significant setback to public-sector unions, organized labor groups are launching new recruiting efforts as they mobilize for the midterm elections. The case - brought by Illinois state worker Mark Janus against the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees - challenges existing law that allows government-employee unions to collect fees from nonmembers.

Opinions, Editorials and Perspectives

Concerned About National Security? Fund Our Schools Better Henry C. Lucas Jr., Morning Consult

The wave of teacher strikes, from West Virginia to Colorado, has raised our awareness of how teacher pay has fallen behind the salaries of other professionals and how desperate conditions are in many schools. Some states have cut education budgets so severely that they are spending far less in today's dollars than they were ten years ago.

The Other China Challenge The Editorial Board, The Wall Street Journal

While President Trump focuses on trade and North Korea, China is aggressively building military outposts beyond its borders in the South China Sea. Beijing wants to push Washington out of the Indo-Pacific, and the Trump Administration and Congress may finally be developing a serious strategy to respond.

The Shame in Puerto Rico The Editorial Board, The New York Times

It is eight months now since Hurricane Maria ravaged Puerto Rico, leveling 70,000 homes and leaving 3.3 million people without power or water and the health care system in tatters. By any measure, the catastrophe was on a level with Hurricanes Katrina and Sandy, two other storms that devastated large regions of America.

POLITICS AS UNUSUAL. "A subterranean divide among Democrats between backers of teachers unions and those of charter schools and other education innovations is helping shape key gubernatorial primaries..." so reports the AP. Charter schools and edreform have long been backburner issues in political campaigns, but in some places a tipping point has been reached. In Colorado, for example, tension has been building over education for months; activists tried to forbid the group Democrats for Education Reform, which backs candidates who support innovations like charter schools and evaluations, from using the party's name in its title. Some of this strife is being driven the teachers unions. Read more here.

PERSONALITY POLITICS. The NY Times posits that because Ed Secretary Betsy DeVos is allegedly such a polarizing figure her support for charter schools actually does more harm to the charter movement than good. "One survey of views on charter schools found... ...the president and his education secretary are so disliked by liberals that some will automatically reject whatever they endorse." While that isn't surprising, it is unfortunate and has spawned a narrative of negativity that is doing a terrible disservice to charters specifically and ed opportunities and innovations generally.

NEW YORK POLITICS. A NY Post editorial lays it on the line for NY Schools Chancellor Richard Carranza. If he truly wants to mend fences with the city's high-performing charter schools and their leaders, he can start by granting long-languishing space requests and also end an injustice that NY1 exposed this week: discrimination by the Committee on Special Education 1 against kids who attend Success Academy (it's been slow-walking requests for Success Academy students, and even unfairly denying services). Continued...

SOMEBODY'S GOTTA STAND UP. Last week The Las Vegas Review-Journal ran a piece about how Nevada's Clark County School District had created a new marketing position to sell the district's schools to parents and slow the exodus of student to charter schools. We responded with a letter to the editor, which reads in part "The [district's] goal should not be 'How do we convince families not to leave?' It should be 'How do we provide learning experiences and results that make them want to stay?' Read the letter in its entirety here.

AND WHILE WE WE'RE AT IT. How do we say this politely....? We've just about had it Valerie Strauss' attempts at journalism, and with the people she quotes and whose opinions she offers up as "proof" that public education is under attack by dark forces who want to "privatize" schools. So we fired off a letter to The Washington Post too.

CONFIRMATION. One of the comments you often hear from parents who choose to send their children to charter, or private schools is the simple desire to ensure their kids are safe – which, sadly, is often not the case in the schools that many children attend. But are those desires met? According to an analysis of the second-year results of the federal evaluation of the D.C. Opportunity Scholarship Program (the federally funded scholarship program that allows low-income families in D.C. to use public education dollars to cover private-school tuition for their kids) by The Hill, the answer is a resounding yes! Get the facts.

consider applications for six new charter schools. Unfortunately, the same school board has consistently cut its budget for the city's existing 34 charter schools (which serve about 20 percent of Charm City's 80,600 public school students). Adding insult to injury, there's a new funding formula that has charter schools paying the district millions of dollars for services previously covered by the school system. Nicole Harris-Crest, ED of the Maryland Alliance of Public Charter Schools, said the cuts and new rules made for a pretty tough environment for starting a charter school. "But," she added, "it adds additional people to the movement to fight for equitable funding." It= 2s time the state legislature or the courts step in to make to make the playing field more level for charters and traditional public schools alike.

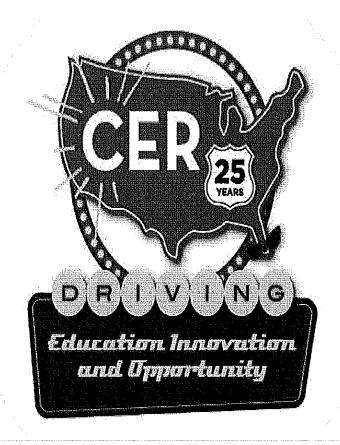

ON CHEERIER NOTES. Check out these two stories on charter schools. First the CBS Morning News story on Basis Independent Silicon Valley, which has captured the top five spots on U.S. News and World Report's list of the best high schools and where students are required to take at least seven AP courses, beginning as early as eighth grade (and some take as many as 20). And do yourself a favor by reading "A change of schools changed everything" by valedictorian of the 2018 graduating class of PACE Career Academy in Allenstown, NH. It's a great personal testament to all the things that are the foundation of innovations and opportunities that are charter schools.

TIME FOR A REALITY CHECK. In a lifetime of amassing experiences and diverse avenues of success, Bill Walton, founder and chairman of the private equity firm Rappahannock Ventures, has been driven by one defining theme, "I've always been interested in the barriers to change." A lifelong learner, Bill is an entrepreneur, education reformer, supporter of the arts, and is a feature film and documentary producer. Bill and his wife Sarah developed an entire French and Spanish language curriculum, Language Odyssey. Since then, he has been passionate in the belief that, "A free market in education rather than government-run schools is the ideal system for every child to flourish in." TICK-TOCK. The clock? 9s winding down, and decisions are being handed down, as the end of this session of the Supreme Court draws to a close. Before it's all over there'll be a decision on Janus v. AFSCME which, if it goes as anticipated (in favor of Janus) will have a huge impact on the power of the teacher's union. early, but October will be here before you know it, so make your plans now to join CER on October 25-26 in Miami for its Silver Anniversary Summit & Celebration "The Road to Innovation for ONE America.? D One of the features of the gathering will be our honoring of some of the pioneers of the education reform movement who will be on hand for the event, including Tommy Thompson. As Wisconsin's governor (from 1987-2001) Thompson was one of first high-profile champions of education reform pushing for the creation of the country's first parental school-choice program, which provided Milwaukee families with a voucher to send children to the private or public school of their choice. He did other great things as governor, too (e.g. welfare reform), and went on to build a remarkable career of public service, including a stint as Secretary of Health and Human Services under George W. Bush, but he'll always be tops in our book for his commitment to, and success in, achieving substantive education reform.

MEANWHILE BACK AT THE RANCH... Last Sunday night NBC News aired a charter school story that argues charters are increasingly geared to support "white flight." If the claims weren't so outlandish and unfounded, it would be laughable. The producer, who was incredibly open to receiving information countering these allegations, based his report on an analysis performed by the Hechinger Report. In one of the documents CER supplied, we demonstrated Hechinger's bias against charter schools, as well as the folly of the argument. Read more...

Komisar, author of "Being There: Why Prioritizing Motherhood in the First Three Years Matters." Based on more than two decades of clinical work and breakthrough neurobiological research on caregiving, attachment and brain development, her book challenges established concepts (and myths) of infant resiliency, 'having it all' and even the definition of feminism. One thing this book is not about is quitting your job. "It= 2s not about working vs. not working — it's really a book about more is more." Also on Reality Check, an attorney for Mark Janus from the Liberty Justice Center shares his thoughts on the likely outcome of the high court's pending decision.

WHEN IT RAINS IT POURS... Just as the AFT and NEA are bracing for the ruling from SCOTUS in the Janus v. AFSCME case, teachers in New York state have filed a class-action suit claiming (correctly, we might add) that they are being illegally forced to cough up union dues even if they're not union members. This is in response to NY's new law, signed by Gov. Andrew Cuomo last April, mandating that all teachers pay a New York State United Teachers "agency fee" regardless of their membership status. Supporters say all teachers benefit from pay hikes and perks secured by the union and should subsidize those efforts. In a suit filed Thursday the two teachers who brought the case say (correctly, we might add) that they oppose "NYSUT's political advocacy and collective bargaining activities" and shouldn't have to fund them. Yep.

In Other News...

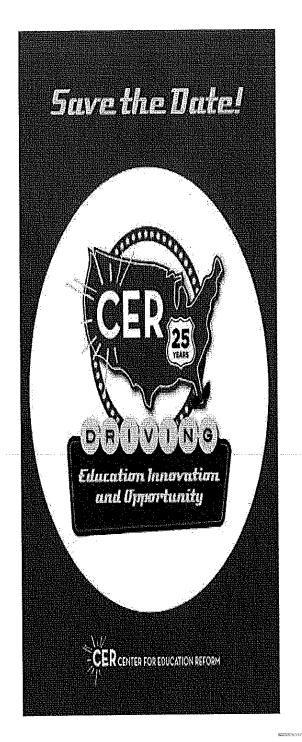

MORE THAN REASONABLE... The Reason Foundation has put out a great piece on school funding. Although titled "Five Recommendations to Solve LAUSD's Looming Fiscal Crisis" its applicable, in parts or in whole, to school funding crises around the country and is worth the read.

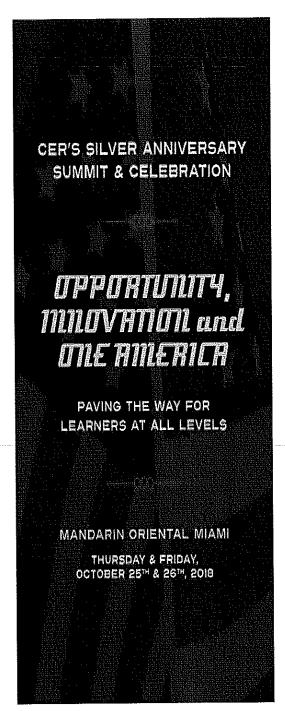

SUNSHINE STATE SUCCESS... Former Florida Senate Education Chairman, John Legg, recently summed up Florida's great, new K-12 scholarship program. "... [it] is conceptually reminiscent of the free tutoring programs developed by bipartisan education advocates under the federal No Child Left Behind Act. This scholarship is driven by the educational principle that children must learn to read so they can then read to learn." Notably the program doesn't try to simply thread more money into district elementary reading budgets but instead provides a reading scholarship, which gives parents the decision on how to spend it. And why is that a better approach, Legg was asked: "The parent is the most influential person in the child's life."

A PROGRESSIVE POINT OF VIEW... Also of note this week, a passionate op-ed on educational opportunity for all, titled "Progressive, affluent parents who send their kids to good= schools shouldn't deny others that right." An excerpt: "Simply put, I'm a progressive. So it troubles me deeply to hear self-styled progressives attack educational options that other parents choose for their children. Worse, these attacks on the educational choices that lower-income parents and parents of children with special needs make almost always come from progressives of higher means. We have a recommendation for that: Check your privilege. I support educational choice for all. Educational options have existed for the wealthy for as long as anyone can remember. What's controversial is when we suggest that those same options should be open to everyone." Amen.

AND THE HITS JUST KEEP ON COMIN'. As the unions anxiously await the Supreme Court's decision on Janus, the lawsuits keep piling up in lower courts around the country, this time in the U.S. District Court in Camden, NJ where a South Jersey teacher who doesn't want anything to do with the state's largest teachers' union has filed suit saying she shouldn't be forced to "subsidize" the New Jersey Education Association and its activities, arguing that her constitutional rights are being violated by forcing her to pay 'representation fees' as a condition of her employment as a public school teacher "even though Ms. Smith refused to join the teachers' union and does not wish to subsidize the union's activities."

Ouestion.: HOW DO YOU REINVIGORATE THE ECONOMY IN RURAL

AMERICA? Answer: EDUCATION. When we improve schools, we improve communities. And while multiple efforts exist across the U.S., rural education has been left out of many modern reforms and innovations. CER's been working on this question for a while now, and have settled on one county on the coastal plain of North Carolina to develop our pilot rural education initiative. Earlier this month, we brought together some of our friends in philanthropy, business, policy and EdTech at UNC to talk about the blue sky of what is possible in Robeson County if we break down the silos between K12, higher ed and career and all work together to leverage our unique talents. The result? A shared vision and a broad plan for implementation.

AND WHILE WE'RE ON THE SUBJECT OF EDUCATION IN RURAL

AMERICA... "Schools closed. Forever. What happens to a rural town after it loses its only school?" is a somber NY Times feature on the plight of rural schools and points to the desperate need for solutions to this growing national problem.

OPPORTUNITY ABOUNDS. Florida Governor Rick Scott paid a recent visit to Puerto Rico (his seventh since Hurricane Maria) and told Puerto Rico Governor Ricardo Rosselló the island has "an unbelievable opportunity to change the island for the better." At the top of Rosselló's opportunity agenda: education reform — adding charter schools, better leadership and a school voucher program. And with plans for a modernized energy grid and rebuilt infrastructure you can add innovations in education to the plan.

WHAT DO STUDENTS WANT? According to an annual survey by the Washington-D.C.-based College Savings Foundation the majority of high school students who will be entering college over the next three years would like to see more colleges promote education and skills training rather than only offering majors for future employment: 81 percent would like to see colleges offer skills instead of majors; 70 percent would prefer to go to that school; and 63 percent said their career plans were affecting their school choice. According to the foundation for the past four years, the number of students embracing skills-based education has been growing. This year, 36 percent have their sights set on attending a technical school; 28 percent are headed to community college; and 8 percent will attend a vocational school. "Looking at our survey from 2015 to 2018, the number of students planning on going to community college has increased 9 percent," D said the foundation's chair.

A MATCH MADE IN HEAVEN. An informative and well-reasoned argument in favor of the president's proposed merger of the Departments of Education and Labor by the founder and director Georgetown University Center on Education and the Workforce, Anthony Carnevale.

"[When] the Education Department was created...two-thirds of jobs required no more than a high school education. Remarkably, 30 percent of good jobs were held by high school dropouts. Now, 55 percent of good jobs require at least a bachelor's degree... There was a time, perhaps, when these departments could stand apart. But no more. At their core, both share the same goal: to create fully functional adults. In a capitalist economy, that means you have to have a job. And in today's world, to get a good job, you need an education... With this combined department, we have an opportunity to realize that education and jobs are inextricably linked."

REALITY CHECK W/JEANNE ALLEN. Many passionate ed reformers and teachers in general come to the profession from other walks of life or different training but Beth Anderson but has been a teacher since 1991 (beginning her career as a Teach for America instructor teaching bilingual kindergartners in LA). Today, she is CEO of the successful and continually innovative Phoenix Charter Academy Network of schools that challenges students with rigorous academics and relentless support. Listen in!

U.S. Supreme Court Rules in favor of Mark Janus in Janus v. AFSCME

Statement by Jeanne Allen, Founder & CEO

It's a great day in Washington, DC! The high court's decision strikes a blow for the freedom guaranteed to individuals under the constitution. No citizen of the United States can be compelled to support speech that he or she does not believe in or endorse, and by upholding that constitutional protection, the court has affirmed a critical principle of freedom.

This is good news for the nation, for thousands of educators who have long been exploited by the teachers unions, and for families whose educational opportunities have been compromised by their political activity. When it comes to education, the most fundamental of all policies that shape our futures, no longer can the union compel people to support activities and positions regardless of principle.

In affirming the position of Mark Janus, the United States Supreme Court finally ends the decades-long assault on worker freedom. While unions, particularly the teachers' unions, have and will continue to decry the ruling, they would do well to look beyond the revenue-generating dollars-and-cents loss that it will entail and see the opportunity that it presents — the opportunity to secure support for their work based not on coercion, but on voluntary support from those who truly believe in the in the ideas, actions and pronouncements of any association to which they now may truly choose to belong.

Education in America is in the midst of a major transformation, which is struggling to realize its full potential in the face of limiting contractual and oppositional forces. From apathy to lack of knowledge to deliberate impediments created by unions, these obstacles have kept education from advancing into 21st century.

The unions now have a chance to join the movement, and embrace the cause of improving education for parents seeking new opportunities for their children, and for children in need of opportunities for innovative individualized learning options, or they get out of the way entirely. While hope springs eternal, we doubt, sadly, that wither will occur. Thankfully, however, teachers will now be able to exercise their own power in impacting the needs of children and families in the education process and policies supporting it.

Kudos to the Court, to Mark Janus, to Rebecca Friedrichs who began the journey before him, and to all who are engaged in the fight for liberty and justice.

Founded in 1993, the Center for Education Reform aims to expand educational opportunities that lead to improved economic outcomes for all Americans — particularly our youth $\mathcal{F}0$ ensuring that conditions are ripe for innovation, freedom and flexibility throughout U.S. education.

BREAKING: High Court Rules Against Unions In Battle Over Public Worker Fees

The U.S. Supreme Court on Wednesday held that public-sector workers who aren't union members can't be forced to pay "agency fees" that cover the cost of collective bargaining, overturning 41-year-old precedent that found those fees constitutional and dealing a financial blow to organized labor.

Manafort had $10 million loan from Russian oligarch: court filing Nathan Layne, Reuters

A search warrant application unsealed on Wednesday revealed closer links than previously known between President Donald Trump's former campaign manager Paul Manafort and a Russian oligarch with close ties to the Kremlin. In an affidavit attached to the July 2017 application, an FBI agent said he had reviewed tax returns for a company controlled by Manafort and his wife that showed a $10 million loan from a Russian lender identified as Oleg Deripaska.

Watchdog closes Zinke threat probe, citing lack of cooperation from Interior Anthony Adragna, Politico

The GAO said today it couldn't issue an opinion on whether Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke violated the law by reportedly threatening an Alaskan senator in a phone call because the agency didn't cooperate in its probe. Interior acknowledged Zinke phoned Senate Energy Chairwoman Lisa Murkowski (R-Alaska) and Sen. Dan Sullivan (R-Alaska) one day after Murkowski voted against the GOP's legislation to repeal the Affordable Care Act.

Xi Warns Mattis China Won't Surrender 'One Inch' of Territory Bloomberg

President Xi Jinping told U.S. Defense Secretary James Mattis he wouldn't give up any territory that China considered its own, an unusually blunt warning as security disputes simmer below a fight over trade. Xi made his remarks while meeting Mattis on Wednesday in Beijing, the first such visit by a U.S. defense chief in more than four years.

Congress snubs White House, won't fund new prison for geriatric inmates at Guantánamo Carol Rosenberg, McClatchy DC

In a setback to President Donald Trump's promise to make Guantánamo a permanent detention center, Congress has refused to pay for construction of a new $69 million prison for the alleged 9/11 plotters and other former CIA captives. Commanders at the prison twice in recent weeks campaigned for the new building in sessions with visiting U.S. journalists.

Trump dubs Heitkamp a 'liberal Democrat,' urges her defeat Darlene Superville, The Associated Press President Donald Trump urged voters Wednesday to fire "liberal Democrat" Sen. Heidi Heitkamp in November, claiming that she promised to be an independent mind but instead has voted in lockstep with her party leadership and against his agenda. Trump called instead for the election of Republican U.S. Rep. Kevin Cramer, one of his staunchest allies in Congress.

Federal officials launch two reviews into Trump's handling of migrant children Dan Diamond, Politico

The GAO and the Health and Human Services inspector general both launched reviews Wednesday into the Trump administration's handling of thousands of migrant children separated from their families at the border. The GAO told Rep. Frank Pallone (N.J.) that it will audit the systems and processes used to track families as they were separated, including how the HHS Office of Refugee Resettlement monitored each minor in its care, according to a letter obtained by POLITICO.

As Summit Nears, NATO Allies Have One Main Worry: Trump Steven Erlanger, The New York Times

NATO has been preparing for its July summit meeting for a year now, but there is one wild card: President Trump. Nobody knows which president will show up - the truculent one railing about inadequate military spending by the allies or the boastful one taking credit for recent spending increases.

Senate

Kennedy Retirement Injects an Inflammatory New Issue Into Midterms

Jonathan Martin et al., The New York Times

Supreme Court Justice Anthony M. Kennedy's announcement on Wednesday that he would retire this summer immediately thrust the high court to the center of the battle for control of the Senate, with Republicans daring red-state Democrats to oppose the nominee to replace Justice Kennedy, and Democrats warning that a rush to seat a new justice before the election would further galvanize moderate and liberal voters. With the Republican majority already on a 51-49 knife's edge, senators and strategists from both parties said the clash over the balance of the Supreme Court would immediately overwhelm a campaign that to date had largely revolved around President Trump's conduct and issues surrounding the economy, immigration and health care.

Senators Quickly Pivot to SCOTUS Confirmation Mode Jason Dick and John T. Bennett, Roll Call

Senate Republican leaders on Wednesday quickly laid out the game plan for confirming a replacement for retiring Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy, wasting no time in stating they intended to confirm a new justice before the fall elections and flatly claiming there was literally nothing Democrats could do to delay that. "The Senate stands ready to fulfill its constitutional role by offering advice and consent on President Trump's nominee to fill this vacancy. We will vote to confirm Justice Kennedy's successor this fall," Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell said on the floor just minutes after the news of Kennedy's retirement broke.

Senate farm bill stalled by Rubio's Cuba crusade Liz Crampton and Catherine Boudreau, Politico

Senate leadership's goal of holding a floor vote on the farm bill this week is now in doubt, as key farm-state lawmakers work to resolve a new demand from Sen. Marco Rubio over a provision that would promote agricultural trade with Cuba. The Florida Republican on Wednesday declared on Twitter that he'd block any new amendments to the farm bill unless the Senate votes to strike a provision that would allow USDA funding for foreign market development programs to be spent in Cuba or until senators adopt his proposal to ban U.S. taxpayer dollars from being spent on businesses owned by the Cuban military.

VA Nominee Faces Questions on Role in Jesse Helms Races Ben Kesling, The Wall Street Journal

President Donald Trump's nominee to head the Department of Veterans Affairs has been preparing for his Senate confirmation hearing Wednesday by meeting with lawmakers in recent weeks to explain his views and his 30-year career in government as well as fielding questions about any role he has played in racially-charged politics. Robert Wilkie, a lawyer and Air Force Reserve officer currently serving as a Pentagon undersecretary in the latest of his decades of government and defense contracting posts, differs from many of the Washington outsiders usually preferred by Mr. Trump.

House

Rosenstein and FBI chief will testify today in the House on alleged FBI bias in Russia probe Chris Megerian, Los Angeles Times

As President Trump continues to rage against the Russia investigation clouding his administration, House Republicans are calling in top law enforcement officials for questioning and are escalating their demands for sensitive documents about the case. Deputy Atty. Gen. Rod Rosenstein and FBI Director Christopher Wray, both of whom were appointed by Trump, are scheduled to testify Thursday before the House Judiciary Committee about a recent Justice Department inspector general report that White House allies claim proves bias among FBI investigators in the Russia probe.

Embattled FBI agent meets with Congress behind closed doors in 11-hour marathon Jeremy Herb et al., CNN

Embattled FBI agent Peter Strzok told lawmakers Wednesday in a marathon, closed-door interview that the anti-Trump text messages he exchanged with an FBI lawyer were part of an "intimate" conversation and he did not intend to act on any of the missives, according to Democrats in the meeting. But Republicans argued that Strzok's claims about the messages after the fact were simply not credible, and one lawmaker claimed to have learned new information from his interview Tuesday with the House Oversight and Judiciary Committees.

Pelosi's path to speakership gets even harder Heather Caygle and John Bresnahan, Politico

Rep. Joe Crowley's stunning loss on Tuesday night to a first-time candidate makes this crystal clear: Nancy Pelosi's path back to the speaker's chair is getting more narrow by the day. But it may not ease the route for the leaders directly below her either.

Potentially expanding his executive power, Gov. Greg Abbott orders agency heads to run proposed rules by him first Emma Platoff, The Texas Tribune

In a move that could expand the powers of his office, Gov. Greg Abbott has told Texas state agencies to submit proposed new rules to him before they are made available for public comment. Citing the "success of regulatory review at the federal level," Abbott's office wrote in a June 22 letter obtained by The Texas Tribune that his staff would review policies before they're published in the Texas Register, much as presidents do at the national level.

New York Attorney General Probes T-Mobile-Sprint Deal's Impact on Prepaid Services Sarah Krouse and Corinne Ramey, The Wall Street Journal

The New York attorney general's office is investigating how T-Mobile US Inc.'s $26 billion deal to buy Sprint Corp. could impact competition in the pay-as-you-go wireless market, according to people familiar with the matter. Representatives from the state attorney general's office have contacted companies that sell prepaid phone services in recent weeks with questions about pricing and customers, the people said.

Judge again orders Trump voter fraud commission to give documents to Maine's secretary of state
Eric Russell, Portland Press Herald

A federal judge has for the second time ordered the Trump administration to turn over documents to Maine Secretary of State Matthew Dunlap related to his participation on a presidential commission on voting integrity. The order, issued Wednesday by U.S. District Judge Colleen Kollar-Kotelly in Washington, D.C., rejects the commission's contention that Dunlap is no longer entitled to any documents now that the commission is dissolved.

As they voted in Democratic primary, many Marylanders appeared inclined to back Hogan this fall. Steve Thompson and Fenit Nirappil, The Washington Post Dwight Hunter is tired of hearing about President Trump. Doesn't want to think about him. And like most Democrats, wishes his presidency were already over.

Advocacy

Inside Facebook and Twitter's secret meetings with Trump aides and conservative leaders who say tech is biased Tony Romm, The Washington Post

Twitter and Facebook are scrambling to assuage conservative leaders who have sounded alarms - and sought to rile voters - with accusations that the country's tech giants are censoring right-leaning posts, tweets and news. From secret dinners with conservative media elite to private meetings with the Republican National Committee, the new outreach reflects tech giants' delicate task: satisfying a party in power while defending online platforms against attacks that threaten to undermine the public's trust in the Web.

Koch Network Plans To Spend Millions Backing Trump's Court Pick Kevin Robillard, HuffPost

The powerful Koch network of conservative megadonors plans to spend seven figures backing President Donald Trump's Supreme Court pick if he nominates a candidate similar to Justice Neil Gorsuch to replace the retiring Anthony Kennedy, a network official said Wednesday. "Faced with a vacancy on the highest court, we encourage President Trump to build on that success by nominating a Supreme Court Justice in the spirit of Justice Neil Gorsuch - a nominee who will respect the rule of law, interpret the Constitution as written, and not seek to advance a political agenda," said Sarah Field, the vice president for judicial strategy at conservative advocacy group Americans for Prosperity.

Opinions, Editorials and Perspectives

With Kennedy Gone, Justice Must Be Won at the Ballot Box The Editorial Board, The New York Times

If the last few days hadn't been dispiriting enough for those who believed the Supreme Court could still stand for reproductive freedom, equal rights for all Americans, a check on presidential power, a more humane criminal justice system and so much more, Wednesday afternoon brought the coup de grâce. Everyone knew it was coming sooner than later, but Justice Anthony Kennedy's retirement, which he announced in a letter released hours after the court had issued its final rulings of the term, is still crushing.

Kennedy's retirement opens a void at the court's center Editorial Board, The Washington Post Justice Anthony M. Kennedy's 30-year career on the Supreme Court was a historical accident. President Ronald Reagan's first choice to replace retiring Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. in 1987 was Judge Robert H. Bork, a cerebral but overly doctrinaire conservative; his nomination failed by a 58-to-42 vote in the Senate.

The Supreme Court's Banner Year The Editorial Board, The Wall Street Journal

The Supreme Court concluded a blockbuster term on Wednesday with a landmark ruling upholding the First Amendment rights of public workers. Justice Neil Gorsuch's first term on the Court and Anthony Kennedy's last turned out to be a banner year for constitutional liberties. The Court saved its most anticipated decision for last as a 5-4 majority in Janus v. Afscme overturned the Court's flawed 1977 Abood decision that allowed states to require workers who don't belong to a union to pay "agency fees" to support collective bargaining.

Sixty-Two Percent View Planned Parenthood Favorably Jim Norman, Gallup

Sixty-two percent of Americans hold a favorable opinion of Planned Parenthood, the powerful pro-choice group whose high-profile role in the abortion debate has thrust it into the news once again this month. President Donald Trump and Republican congressional leaders are attempting to cut off federal funding for the organization because of its role as a major provider of abortions across the nation.

States cracking down on streaming video while driving

USA TODAY

Georgia isn't the only state to single out streaming as a new danger. A Washington state law, the Driving Under the Influence of Electronics Act, in January was the first to specifically mention video on phones. It even makes it illegal for Washington drivers to sneak a peek at their smartphone when stopped in traffic or at a stoplight, though they can touch a mounted or in-dash screen.

More political news, faster. Curated by Saul Anuzis

Happy Birthday America!

Supreme Court: What a week!?! Justice Kennedy announced his retirement giving President Trump an opportunity to appoint a solid conservative on the court that will hold up the principles enshrined in our constitution...rather than rewrite it.

Then the Supreme Court passed the Janus decision, finally giving government workers the right to to chose whether or not to pay union dues. With municipal unions blindly backing Democrats with their union dues, this gives workers the ability to make their own decisions when it comes to politics. This is huge!

Attempted Entrapment: Stunning, as the Obama Administration's political hacks attempted to entrap members of the Trump campaign in what clearly is becomely decided clear political gamesmanship. This kind of activity threatens our democracy at its core. "Spygate" is worse than "Watergate" because of the brazen political bias and intent to stop the election of a major party's nominee...regardless of who that person is. Offenders should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Democratic Ideas: Think about this, from union dues to Obamacare, liberal ideas are so good they have to use government to force you to buy them?!? A bankrupt party?

The Democrats have Lost It: Congresswomen Maxine Waters and Nancy Pelosi now represent the mainstream of the Democratic Party...which is truly unbelievable! Elections have consequences, they lost, and the Trump Administration is implementing their promises, their policy. If the liberal/progressive left disagrees, harness the intellectual power of the liberal left, make your case to the American people for open borders, catch and release, higher taxes, less jobs, civil disobedience, racism and going backwards....and let the American people decide at the ballot box. I think we are in the midst of a second American Revolution, the difference is conservatives and normal Americans are willing to fight it at the ballot box rather than at the end of barrel or a flying brick.

The progressive left wing Democratic Party has gone too far. They've lost any semblance of civil discord. They openly finance, encourage and defend anything from near domestic terrorism by individual with Antifa - Black Lives Matter to MS-13, to riots in the streets, to an invasion of illegal immigrants across our border to our own law enforcement, intelligence services and IRS targeting U.S. citizens for political reasons.

An Obama/Clinton legacy that will be a shockingly disturbing chapter in America's history.

Why Share This Newsletter: I've had a few questions over the last few weeks as to why I share various information and news stories via this newsletter and online.

I want activists to engage. I email this newsletter every Sunday to about 16,000 activists, reporters, pundits and other folks who care. It's free...it a collection of some of the key stories for the week that help inform and move the debate forward.

The goal is to give a conservative perspective, facts to fight the left and to motivate Americans to engage in the debate over public policy that matters.

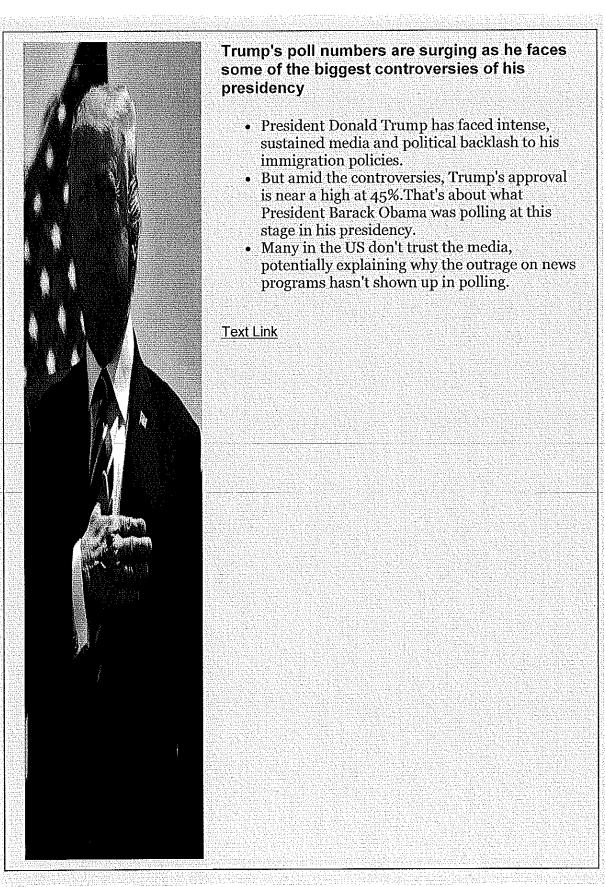

I also want to help expose the radical left wing propaganda as just that. The tactics and willingness of so many on the left to lie, distort, threaten and destroy civil discourse is dangerous. Too many have lost the ability to agree to disagree and have a rational disagreement over policy and politics.

We need to tone it down...get back to a battle over ideas...let both side express themselves in civil discourse. Leave the bats, bottles, masks and race baiting name calling at home.

So I hope it helps, informs and motivates...for it's a fight worth fighting.

Keep the faith!

Trump's poll numbers are surging as he faces some of the biggest controversies of his presidency

· President Donald Trump has faced intense, sustained media and political backlash to his immigration policies.

• But amid the controversies, Trump's approval is near a high at 45%. That's about what President Barack Obama was polling at this stage in his presidency.

· Many in the US don't trust the media, potentially explaining why the outrage on news programs hasn't shown up in polling.

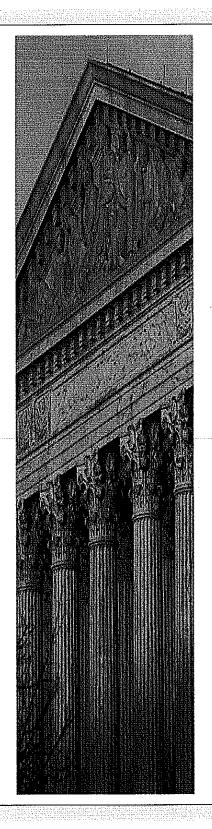

Huge News...Government Workers 'Free At Last'

Rank and file government workers won big over union bosses Wednesday when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled 5-4 in favor of Mark Janus, an Illinois state worker who refused to join the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees. The court struck down an Illinois law that allowed the union to deduct fees from Janus's paycheck despite his refusal to join.

The Janus ruling smashes laws in 22 states — including New York, Connecticut, New Jersey and California — that compel nonmembers to support unions. Until now, if you wanted a government job in these states, you had to pay up. But now firefighters, teachers and other public employees won't have to fork over a penny to a union if they choose not to join. For the average worker who opts out, it will mean hundreds of dollars more in take-home pay a year.

More in workers' pockets, less in union coffers. Nationwide, unions are expected to forfeit hundreds of millions of dollars when nonmembers stop paying and some members quit to save money, too.

Midterm turnout surges for both parties

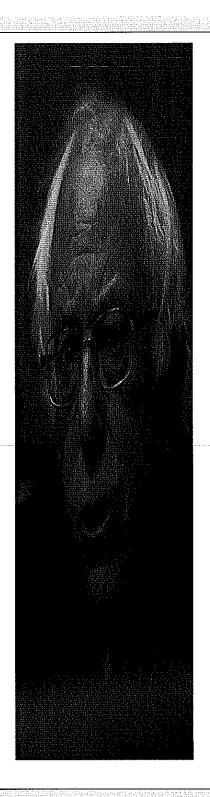

A surge in voter enthusiasm has prompted millions more Democrats to cast ballots in primary elections this year, a turnout explosion ahead of midterms..

The Democrats Are Done Pretending to Be Moderate

They think they're unpopular because they aren't left-wing enough.

The Democratic love of socialism was for many years the love that dared not speak its name. No more. Now the party is figuratively jumping on Oprah's couch shouting its love of socialism. You'd have to plug your ears not to hear it.

Socialist Bernie Sanders is unquestionably the spiritual leader of the Democratic party, which is radicalizing itself in his image, and on the strength of her blowout Democratic-primary win over liberal incumbent Joe Crowley in the party-ruled NY-14 congressional district, soon-to-be-congresswoman Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez is now one of the most prominent faces in the Democratic party. A poll last fall put support for socialism at 44 percent among Millennials, and even more disturbingly, 23 percent of this group agreed that Joseph Stalin is a "hero." Socialized medicine, i.e., Medicare for all, is the hottest issue on the Left (unless you count hating Trump as an "issue").

After Its Hard Left Turn, Will Democratic Party Officially Admit It's Socialist?

Progressives: The shocking primary victory of 28year-old socialist Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez over Congress' No. 4, Democrat Joe Crowley, underscores what we have long noted: The Democratic Party is no longer a party of moderation, but a party of the extreme left. And it's moving ever faster and farther leftward with each election cycle.

The 57%-42% drubbing of Crowley looks like the death knell not just for his political career, but for that of his mentor House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi. Crowley, after all, was the hand-picked successor to Pelosi. He had outraised his far younger opponent by 10-to-1.

Ocasio-Cortez isn't a make-believe socialist; she belongs to the Democratic Socialists of America. And she had the backing of Bernie Sanders' "Our Revolution" political group. "Our Revolution"? Do they want a civil war? It's a real concern. A new Rasmussen poll shows 31% of Americans think a civil war is likely soon, while 59% fear violence from Trump haters.

That's scary.

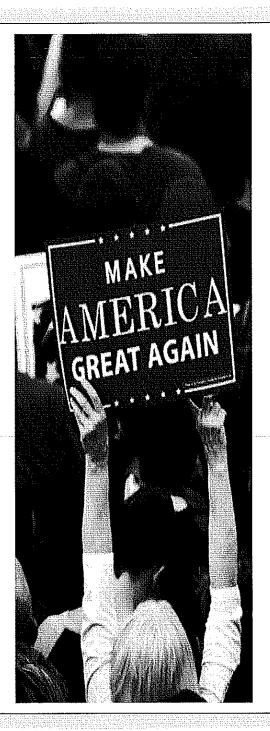

Early FBI contacts with Trump campaign officials analyzed; 'Efforts to manufacture evidence'

Lee Smith at Real Clear Investigations has a lengthy analysis of the early contacts with Trump campaign official prior to the official launch of the FBI's counterintelligence probe known as "Crossfire Hurricane."

How extensive the FBI or other US intelligence/law enforcement agencies' contacts with Trump campaign advisers were prior to the July 31, 2016 start date for the official investigation has been a great mystery for journalists and congressmen willing to ask.

Congressman Devin Nunes, the Chairman of the House Intelligence Committee has been trying to get to the bottom of these contacts and the exact origin of the FBI probe for several months and has still been met with stonewalling from the Justice Department.

Smith has detailed as many as seven contacts with Trump campaign figures that have been made public:

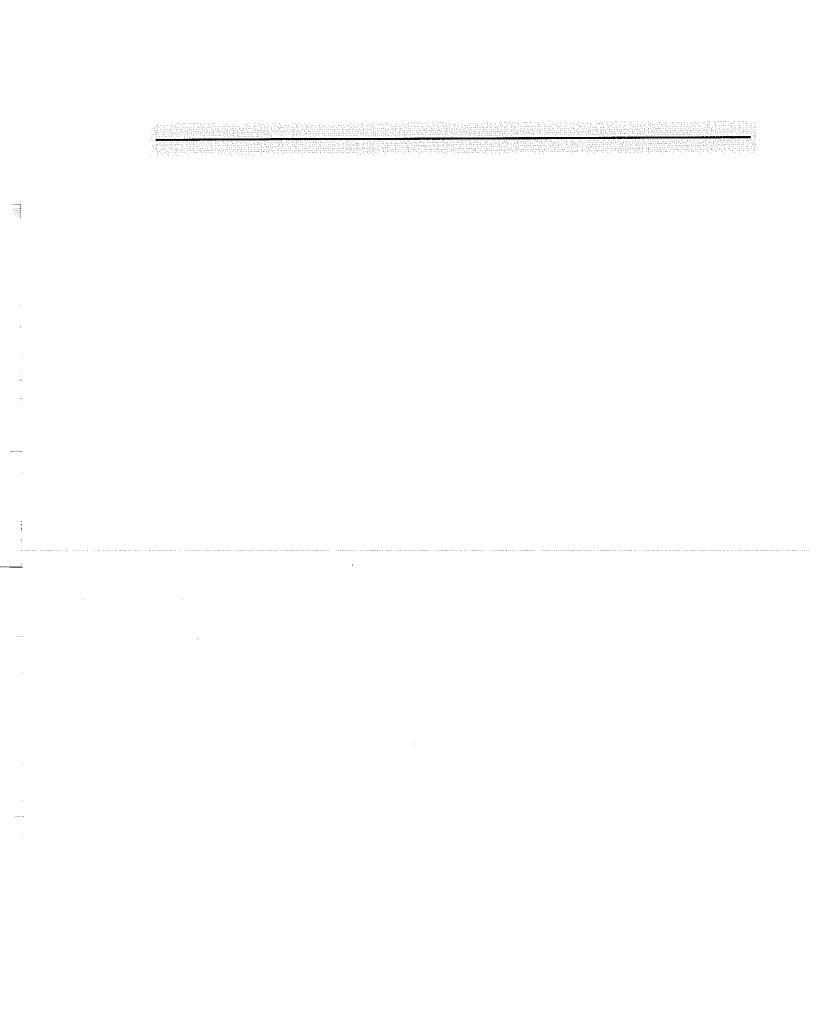

Days of Rage: There is no limiting principle on leftist fury.

American politics is taking a dangerous turn. Or, I should say, American politics is taking a dangerous turn again. In the space of a few days last week, leftist protesters individually targeted trump aide Stephen Miller, taunted Secretary of Homeland Security Kirstjen Nielsen in a restaurant and at her home, mocked (and allegedly spat at) Florida attorney general Pam Bondi at a movie theater, and denied service to Trump press secretary Sarah Huckabee Sanders at a restaurant in Lexington, Va.

Make no mistake, this is provocative rhetoric. Angry, in-your-face confrontations dramatically increase the chances of violence. Put people in close proximity, yelling and spitting, and public officials will rightly start to fear that they're in physical danger. While millions of Americans don't remember that a Bernie Sanders supporter last year tried to assassinate a significant portion of the GOP Congress, you can be assured that not a single Republican in Washington has forgotten. They can never be sure that the screaming person in front of them doesn't mean them physical harm.

Maxine Waters advances a liberal strategy with her call for mob action

With the appalling news of the past few weeks of mobs attempting to harass and intimidate President Trump's female Cabinet members and staff, the inclination is to believe that this remarkable behavior, so antithetical to American values, is the result of a lack of leadership in the Democratic Party.

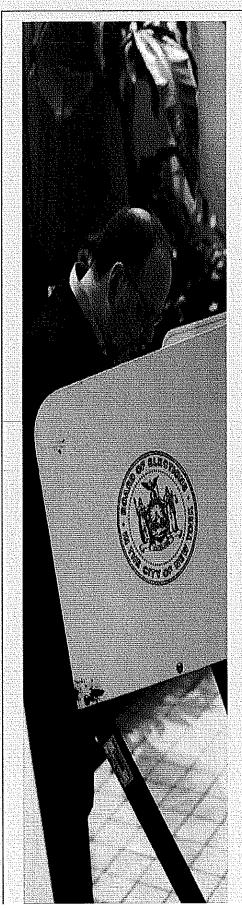

Yet, the organized nature of the attacks, combined with liberal political and legacy media rhetoric, makes clear this is not some sort of organic turn of events. Having come from the left, I can tell you everything liberals do is organized around the principle of personalizing, punishing and polarizing; it's the only thing they know how to do and is a required skill when you can't persuade people on the details of the issues and have no actual policy solutions.

While some were calling for an end to this classically fascist behavior, Rep. Maxine Waters, California Democrat, decided more mob action would be good. Ms. Waters spoke to a group in Los Angeles and did not call for an end to the menacing; instead, she encouraged it.

Real Clear Politics reported, "She said cabinet members and highly visible Trump enablers should expect harassment at restaurants, gas stations, shopping places, and even their homes, 'Already you have members of your cabinet that are being booed out of restaurants. We have protesters taking up at their house who are saying, 'No peace, no sleep. No peace, no sleep ...? 9 Waters finished with a call to action: 'If you see anybody from that cabinet in a restaurant, in a department store, at a gasoline station, you get out and you create a crowd. You push back on them. Tell them they= 2re not welcome anymore, anywhere!' "

Veteran Rep. Joe Crowley's (D-N.Y.) stunning defeat on Tuesday night rocked the political world, as progressive candidates stormed to victory in primaries held across the country. Crowley, the chairman of the House Democratic caucus who was seen as a potential future speaker, lost in a massive upset to progressive challenger Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, a 28-year-old organizer for Sen. Bernie Sanders's (I-Vt.) presidential campaign.

Other liberal candidates won primary challenges in top House and gubernatorial races. Former NAACP President Ben Jealous, who was endorsed by Sanders, won the Democratic primary in Maryland's governor race. And activist Dana Balter won her House primary in upstate New York.

Those victories illustrate that voters have an appetite to buck the political establishment, as progressives seek to move the Democratic Party farther to the left.

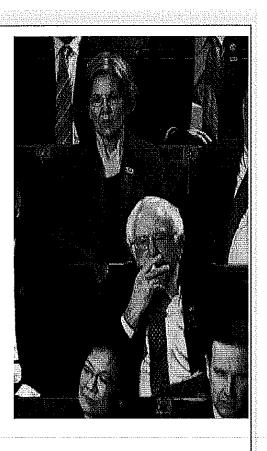

The Left Tries To Blame Trump For Their Own Hate Mongering

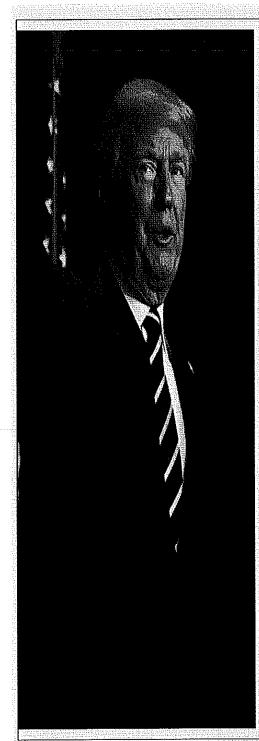

Civil Society: When not worrying that its increasingly hostile anti-Trump antics might backfire on Democrats, the left is busy blaming President Trump's own incivility for the ferocity of their attacks. But this is exactly how the left treats all conservatives, rough-hewn or not.

After a week in which a celebrity called for the abduction of the president's young son, a restaurant kicked out Trump's spokesman, and a mob harassed the Homeland Security secretary, Democrats are starting to wonder if their "resistance" is getting out of hand — while refusing to take any blame for it.

House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi managed to perfectly encapsulate this when she said "Trump's daily lack of civility has provoked responses that are predictable but unacceptable."

The blame-Trump-first meme has been catching on fast.

As days pass, will Trump waste another chance to build the wall?

Building a wall on the U.S.-Mexico border was Donald Trump's premier campaign promise, and he is running out of chances to keep it.

Trump has been president for nearly a year and a half, and has not yet won anywhere near the funding needed to build the wall along the 1,000 or so miles of border that he pledged to voters. Now, there are two Republican immigration bills in the House, each of which would provide around $25 billion for the wall, and Trump has blown them both off, saying he'd rather try again after November's midterm elections.

"Republicans should stop wasting their time on immigration until after we elect more Senators and Congressmen/women in November," Trump tweeted Friday. "Dems are just playing games, have no intention of doing anything to solve this decades old problem. We can pass great legislation after the Red Wave!"

Now, it is entirely possible Republicans will keep control of the House and Senate. It's also possible they will lose. But does anyone believe the GOP will gain enough seats to pass difficult legislation without somehow settling their internal disputes? Unlikely.

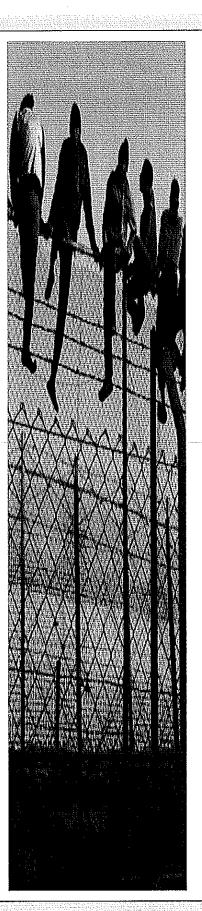

And of course Democrats are playing games with immigration. They still will be after the election, no matter what happens.

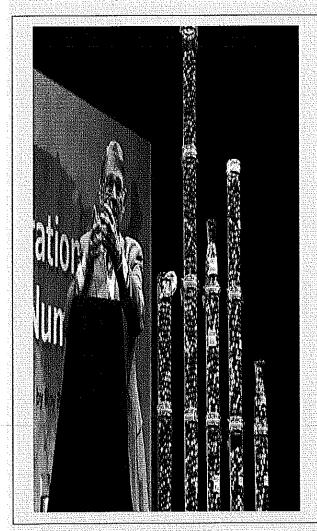

Even Europe is Securing Their Borders...EU leaders reach migration deal after marathon talks in Brussels

European Union leaders reached a breakthrough deal on migration after all-night talks in Brussels, European Council President Donald Tusk announced on Friday.

The agreement has been billed as "make or break" for German Chancellor Angela Merkel's future in office amid a dispute with her hardline Interior Minister Horst Seehofer.

Worth Remembering and Keeping In Mind: Saul Alinsky's 13 Tried-and-True Rules for Creating Meaningful Social Change

Saul David Alinsky died 36 years before the election of Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton's first attempt for the presidency. But many feverish screeds on social media, talk radio, and YouTube might have made one think he lurked behind these politicians like Rasputin. Spoken of by many on the right as a servant of the devil, "American Joseph Goebbels," and "dangerous harbinger of insurrection," Alinsky developed a reputation for insidiousness that may exceed his influence, considerable though it may be.

But liberals and leftists have no special purchase on Alinsky's legacy. As one thoughtful, eloquent pundit recently wrote, "the Right has taken Saul Alinsky's Rules for Radicals and shoved it up where #TheResistance don't shine." Not long before this charming appropriation, Alinsky's 1971 manual of political warfare found its way into the hands of some of the same Tea Party organizers who had made his name synonymous with everything they despised about the left. (See Alinsky court his Luciferian comparisons in the 1966 interview above.)

Columbus Dispatch & The Hill

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Following last week's Supreme Court ruling in Janus v. AFSCME, Robert Alt, president and chief executive officer at The Buckeye Institute, looked at what the ruling means for Ohio's public employees and government unions in The Columbus Dispatch (complete piece below).

Alt also had a piece in The Hill, where he wrote, "Consent matters. But you don't have to take my word for it -- just ask the Supreme Court of the United States. In Janus v. AFSCME, the Court's five-member majority held that the First Amendment protects public-sector employees -- including petitioner Mark Janus -- from being compelled 'to subsidize private speech on matters of substantial public concern' without prior affirmative consent."

The Columbus Dispatch

Janus decision protects workers who dissent from union

The Columbus Dispatch
By Robert Alt
July 1, 2018

In Janus v. American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, Council 31, the U.S. Supreme Court decided that public-sector workers must affirmatively consent before any money can be taken from them for union fees.

Since Wednesday's ruling, folks on both sides have unfortunately succumbed to hyperbolic overreaction. The most cursory recollection of our country's founding reminds us that the same idea of consent was integral to empowering the government in the first place. Accordingly, it should surprise precisely no one that the court was concerned with the compulsion aspect of the case's facts.

Plaintiff Mark Janus -- an ordinary child-support specialist at the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services -- objected to paying mandatory union fees as a condition of his employment and lamented, "The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week goes to the union. I am not anti-union... But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

The Supreme Court agreed with Janus that, indeed, consent matters. Common courtesy and basic human decency have always demanded it, but now -- in overruling its own 41-year-old precedent in Abood v. Detroit Board of Education -- the court found that the First Amendment requires affirmative consent when it comes to paying union fees, too.

Writing for a five-member majority, Justice Samuel Alito raised the court's objection to public employees being forced to financially support their unions, "even if they choose not to join and strongly object to the positions the union takes." Such an arrangement, Alito concluded, "violates the free speech rights of nonmembers by compelling them to subsidize private speech on matters of substantial public concern."

Unions will continue to serve their consenting members for generations to come -- only now they will do so more effectively, more efficiently and without trampling the constitutional rights of their members.

Any Ohio unions worried that Janus and other subsequent right-to-work laws will catalyze the end of unions and union membership can rest easy. Empirical studies and data from right-to-work states, including our neighbors Indiana and Michigan, demonstrate that even after enacting right-to-work laws, union membership not only does not suffer but often increases.

In the first full year after Indiana's right-to-work law took effect, for example, the state added 3,000 new union members. Although union membership initially fell slightly after Michigan adopted right-to-work rules in 2013, it has since recovered, accounting for 15.6 percent of all wage and salary workers in 2017 -- up from 14.4 percent in 2016 and well above the national average of 10.7 percent.

After Janus, the quality of public-sector union representation inevitably will improve. Removing coercion and requiring affirmative consent will incentivize union leaders to be more responsive to the needs and desires of their union members, which will increase the value of union membership by refocusing the union's attention on increasing job satisfaction and working conditions for members.

Happier and better-served union members who have affirmatively consented to their union membership should be our shared end goal across the political spectrum.

Public-sector workers won the long-overdue right to be respected, irrespective of their individual decisions regarding union membership. And, in a nation founded upon the consent of the governed, the standard of consent adopted by the Supreme Court in Janus finally gives our hardworking public servants the voice and choice they have always deserved.

Robert Alt is the president and chief executive officer of The Buckeye Institute in Columbus.

ICYMI: In Public-Sector Union-Fees Case, SCOTUS Strikes a Blow for Freedom

by Jeanne Allen | National Review | June 27, 2018

...

Janus v. AFSCME is good news for the First Amendment.

The suggestion by union leaders and various pundits that the Supreme Court's decision on Janus v. AFSCME will somehow deny teachers a voice — and will "defund and destroy" the unions ? 4 is absurd.

The case addresses an individual's constitutional protection from coerced speech. It doesn't deny unions the right to organize, recruit, bargain, strike, or collect dues from willing members. What it does deny is the unions' right to force individuals who are opposed to their positions and policies to pay into union coffers.

As much as America's teachers' unions are labor organizations, they are equally or more so political organizations, lending huge support to political causes, campaigns, and candidates. Continue reading...
